Ruritans!*

Ruritans Resilience

I hope this letter finds each of you safe and in good health. We are having a once in a lifetime crucial experience, but our faith and hope remain strong. We as Ruritans accept this time of continuous change as an OPPORTUNITY. A time to find new ways to engage our communities. During uncertain times people are looking for hope or a way to help in their neighborhoods. RURITANS have the experience to promote hope, goodwill, and provide services. It is an opportunity to develop not only new relationships, but embrace new ways of communicating, which will help prepare our organization for the future.

We have endured this COVID-19 challenge thus far. And while those working on the front lines and essential workers have been praised for bringing us through the crisis, there have also been unsung heroes, the Ruritans. I could not be prouder of these unsung heroes. Your actions and support have enabled those on the front lines to keep fighting. Your willingness and your courage to take this opportunity to serve your communities even more, exemplifies your Eagle spirit.

Despite the danger this virus presents, Ruritans have learned the benefit of volunteering and are continuing to find ways to pay it forward. When volunteering you are making a commitment to share that most precious of resources -your time- to make life better for those who are in need. Your helping-hand and the kindness you show makes the greatest difference in the lives of the individuals who are touched by your generosity. It does not matter how you choose to volunteer. Just by being a Ruritan member, you are supporting the organization and its cause, you do make a difference.

Our staff has been relentless in leading the way, assisting the Ruritan National Board in taking advantage of the unpredictable situation we are facing, meeting nightly with the different committees, managing their staff responsibilities, and keeping our National Office operational.

The Ruritan Executive Committee has been meeting bi-weekly since March via Microsoft Teams to stay current on the COVID-19 impact and risk. The committee has focused on confronting the challenges to keep the organization functioning while continuing to support the members and communities with least disruption. The National Committees have been working tirelessly, spending countless hours weekly via Microsoft Teams to determine action plans, setting goals, and develop strategies to help prepare the organization for the short term and for the future during these uncertain times.

Because of the Pandemic we've had to reconsider how we carry out our Board of Directors meeting to minimize the virus exposure to the members. The meeting was held on August 8, 2020. We met via Microsoft Teams and some board members met in person at the home office. We limited the in-person participation so we could comply with the Virginia's social distancing rule and for the safety and well-being of our members.

PANDEMIC

COVID-19 is still a real threat, let us continue our prayers not only for Ruritans but for our nation that we may soon have a cure. For now, all we can do is protect ourselves and each other. What we know now is that washing your hands, wearing a mask and social distancing is the only weapon we have. So, I pray we all use them to protect each other.

GONE TO SOON

In remembering the many wonderful dedicated Ruritans that have "gone too soon" in 2020, I offer these verses of comfort for the families and friends, from Matthew 5:3: "Blessed are the pure in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven" 4 "Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted, amen."

We are very enthusiastic for those districts where some clubs are starting to physically meet and have limited activities, and we wish you the greatest of success. We look forward to the day we all will be back to a more normal Ruritan routine. If your district is meeting virtually or in person, please continue to follow the guidelines provided by your local government agencies. And remember to wash your hands, wear your mask, and social distance.

Ruritans Working Together to Soar to New Heights, Linward Hedgpeth

Keep Doing What You Do

We are learning so much. We have met hundreds of times in the last several months using Microsoft Teams at a time when we might have believed that all meetings would be put on hold. We have executed our very first virtual (at least partially virtual) board meeting. We have seen changes that have tested us and required us to see every side of an issue. We have tried our very best to be respectful of every mindset. The phrase “May you live in interesting times”, has taken on a whole new meaning in 2020.

Sarah Kelly was hired in early January and is in place as the Deputy Executive Director. She brings a great skill set to the position including banking, finance, and insurance experience. However, I believe as importantly as that she brings a genuine love for Ruritan to the position. Because of the circumstances surrounding the coronavirus many of her experiences have been different than we anticipated in her first year as Deputy Executive. Some of what she has experienced, may well be more valuable than if the year had been “normal”.

I would like to take a moment to just tell you how thankful I am for the staff here at Ruritan. My staff, your staff, our staff, has performed at a very high level during this crisis. They go above and beyond because they care about their jobs, because they care about Ruritan, because they care about our members. They are great, caring people who do not get nearly enough credit for what they do. None of them are here because they believe they will attain great wealth. They are here because they care about our noble cause and support Ruritan on a foundational level. Every single staff person is a member of a Ruritan Club and works just as hard outside the office on club projects and fundraising for their local community as they do for us. This year has not been easy for staff. I have been employed here for 40 years and this is the first time I have ever experienced a furlough. I would like to express my heartfelt thanks to Sarah Kelly, Craig Whitt, Diane Lawson, Bessie McCormick, Kory Wirt, Crystal Andrews, and Chris Pugh for all they do for Ruritan.

I also want to thank our board of directors and committees. We have had the privilege to work with all the committees since the March board of directors meeting. However, several committees deserve mention for the effort that they have put forth over the last four months.

Executive – This committee has met bi-weekly or weekly since March. Many of the meetings have focused on the pandemic and how we continue to operate without interruption in a time that is so interrupted. They have taken advantage of new technology, made hard decisions, tried to be conscious and respectful of all groups feelings and needs and done their level best to serve the directors, district and club leaders.

Restructure – This committee was given a task that is difficult out of the gate. They have met weekly with only one exception since March. In many cases the entire committee met, and then sub-committees would meet an additional time during the same week. They have examined data, done research, struggled with what the best choices would be and tried to come to conclusions that give us our best chance at thriving in a changing environment.

Bylaws – This committee has met every week, sometimes twice weekly since March. They have examined the national bylaws, district bylaws, club bylaws, current board policy, IRS code, Virginia law and have tried to streamline our bylaws. They always tried to keep the club, our members, and the communities that we serve in the forefront of their thinking.

Leadership Development – This committee truly made lemonade out of lemons. Faced with the task of planning a summer leadership conference, they did just that, only to have the conference canceled just prior to being held. In the final 60 days prior to the date of the planned conference they had to switch gears and determine how to deliver a viable training tool to members that were not going to be able to attend a physical meeting. I have never been prouder of what was produced because of this committee's effort.

Most of all I am proud of you. Your commitment to serve even when it seemed impossible is remarkable. Again, in this magazine, the spirit of service rises in the middle of a trying time. When things are the hardest is when you see the true heart of a volunteer. We see your heart. The theme of this magazine is give. Each and every one of you who has found a way to give have become hope to so many people.

Keep doing what you do.

Landau Eugene Murphy Jr. is Returning by Overwhelming Request to the Ruritan National Convention as our Headline Banquet Entertainment!

The Sinatra-and-Soul singing season six winner of NBC TV's "America's Got Talent" is sure to entertain you with his incredible voice, undeniable charisma and unparalleled showmanship.

Backed by the dynamic Landau Big Band, you'll hear Great American Songbook classics from Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Nat 'King' Cole and many more, along with a dusting of that special Motown Magic that is sure to fill up our dance floor.

And after the show, you'll have the opportunity to meet Landau one-on-one for photos and have the chance to talk with him about his incredible rags-to-riches story.

Landau was born into poverty in the Appalachian coalfields of southern West Virginia. His parents split while he was in elementary school, and Landau was shipped off to Detroit in the middle of the night. He woke up in the Motor Cities notoriously gang and drug riddled "7 Mile" neighborhood. Landau likes to say that he went from Almost Heaven to Little Baghdad overnight!

After a series of dead-end jobs and a too-soon failed marriage, Landau eventually found himself homeless and sleeping in his car. Then, his voice became his calling card.

"I loved to play basketball in Detroit, and these guys were good. Some of them went onto the NBA. But we were in the hood; it wasn't anything to see guns drawn on the court after the game, so to keep people cool and laughing, when I'd dunk on someone, I'd sing a Frank Sinatra song like "Fly Me To The Moon" and everyone would laugh and put their guns away."

Eventually, that one-of-a-kind voice would lead him back to West Virginia to perform for local charities and nursing homes. Landau says, "I was singing for charities, when most of the time, I had less than the people receiving the charity proceeds did, but that was OK because I was singing."

At the end of his rope, Landau tied a knot and pulled himself back up by auditioning for NBC TV's "America's Got Talent" with thousands of others. After months of competition, Landau emerged the winner, scoring a million dollars and a recording contract, and he's never looked back.

Landau's Columbia Records debut album "That's Life" reached number one on the Billboard Jazz Charts, and was followed by "Christmas Made For Two", "Landau" and his latest "Landau Live In Las Vegas" recorded during a performance at the legendary Caesar's Palace. Landau has appeared on on dozens of TV programs including "The Today Show", "The View", CNN, "Fox and Friends", "The Talk", the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade and the Hollywood Christmas Parade.

He's performed all over the world, from China to New York City, Los Angeles to Europe where he had the honor to perform for U.S. servicemen and their families stationed there. He's honored the country by singing the national anthem prior to games by the Los Angeles Lakers, Washington Wizards, New York Rangers, Baltimore Orioles, Oklahoma City Thunder, Washington Nationals, and his beloved West Virginia University Mountaineers during a nationally televised homecoming event.

Landau's book featuring his amazing story reached #1 on Amazon and he had his first movie cameo in 2017 in the Ron James "Choices" biopic. Landau says he's honored and humbled to appear before the Ruritan's. "I identify with them. These are down-to-earth, salt-of-the-earth small town folks who work hard, take care of their families and give back to their communities. They're what the best of America is all about, and I'm honored that they asked me to join them."

2021 National Convention Mini Schedule

Make Plans to Attend!

Have you made your plans to attend the 2021 Ruritan National Convention? The hotel and convention center representatives are looking forward to our "return" to Covington, their city with many great venues. "Return" because some of them and some of you still remember the great time and convention we had there in 2013. John Hancock, 2004 Ruritan National President, was convention chair and he said, "If you like small towns, you'll love Covington but if big city life is more to your liking, then you can either walk or take the trolley across the Ohio River to Cincinnati for big city life." This area has something for everyone! You will remember if you were in Covington in 2013, there were a series of tours available for our members. Because of the uncertainty at this time caused by COVID-19, tour plans are tentative. There will still be plenty of great activities to do at local sites and restaurants that individuals and small groups can access via the shuttle/trolley.

Covington and the Northern Kentucky (NKY) Convention Center, is situated on the banks of the Ohio River with two great hotels - the Embassy Suites Cincinnati River Center and the Cincinnati Marriott River Center, which is connected to the NKY Convention Center by a covered walkway. The Embassy has already been renovated since our 2013 National Convention, and the Marriott is still in the renovation process and will be completed before our January 2021 visit. The cost of rooms at these two hotels has increased by only $9 since our 2013 visit. The rate at each hotel is $109 for either a king or two-queen room. The Marriott will provide our members with a $5 discount for the breakfast buffet. Additionally, both hotels are offering free self parking and free internet services. Based upon hotel availability, these room rates will be offered three days prior to and three days after our event. This will allow Ruritans the opportunity to come early or stay late to enjoy the NKY area. Both hotels will offer complimentary housing reservation booking through an internet system, enabled by Lanyon Passkey. Ruritan office staff members have worked with the NKY Convention Center representatives and have enabled this system at <https://book.passkey.com/e/50083787> on the Ruritan website, ruritan.org. Just go to ruritan.org and click on the picture of the NKY Convention Center.

Your Piece of the MMS is Your Member Record

Being part of a Ruritan club as a volunteer is a bi-directional relationship; both sides have responsibilities. On the club side, the club makes sure that you are informed of what the club is doing and what the organization is doing. In order for that to take place your member record is extremely important.

This allows the club, district and national to keep in touch with you on Ruritan related matters. To the right is a copy of a member record.

All of the fields are very important, especially contact information like your address, phone numbers and especially email addresses. As part of managing annual member's dues, Ruritan tries to control cost and using electronic means helps us; save on postage, print cost, and labor in order to provide information to you the member in a timely manner.

You may note that Ruritan partners with Gallagher Affinity so that businesses such as Office Depot, Lifeline Screening, Choice Hotels, and Hertz may offer special benefits to Ruritan members as an extra "thank you" for what Ruritan members are doing in their communities. The mailings come from Gallagher; the Ruritan mailing list is never given directly to these businesses. You are under no obligation to respond but if you would prefer not to get those mail offers at all – you can let us know by calling us toll free 877-787-8727 ext. 303 and leaving a message to take you off those mailing lists. Just leave your name and your club name. Or email us at service@ruritan.org.

A future version of the MMS will allow each member to choose "yes" or "no" for these mailings. In the meantime, don't hesitate to contact the staff as outlined above.

It is up to you, the member, to keep your member record up to date or inform your club secretary when things change. This record provides several benefits to you as a member: keeps you in the loop on what is happening, club activities, zone and district activities, and national benefits. This also provides you and your club insurance protection (liability insurance) when you do volunteer work for your club.

And don't forget, if you have a membership in more than one Ruritan club the MMS will allow you to designate which is your primary club. This can be done by any club or district officer.

That means if you register for a district or national convention the system will know from which club you would be considered a delegate. That is helpful for online voting as well as name badge printing.

Just ask a club officer to designate one of your clubs as primary - in the upper right corner of your member information page in the MMS.

Of course if you are an associate in one club and a full member in the other – remember that associate members can't serve as club delegates.

If you have any questions about using the Member Management System (MMS), please don't hesitate to reach out to Ruritan staff toll free at 877-787-8727 or email us at membership@ruritan.org or service@ruritan.org.

Clubs Who Answered The Call

During COVID-19

Gamewell - Western NC District

member Gerald Sprinkle made homemade soup for the community since the club couldn't do any other fundraisers due to the pandemic. Gerald lost his brother David Sprinkle in April and he wanted to do something in remembrance of him. Gerald's wife Judy had a good recipe for homemade soup so Gerald thought that would be a good thing to make. He gave some to senior citizens, veterans families in need, and anyone that just wanted to try it. The club helped purchase grocery items including bread, crackers, tomatoes, eggs, peanut butter, apple sauce, and chicken tenders. He makes one run a week which produces about 18 jars. To date he has made about 250 quarts of soup and provided about 750 meals. Each jar makes about two meals.

Maur-Brook-Olive - Rockingham District

distributed paper products that were scarce during the pandemic to 50 families. With assistance from local friends, the club was able to get several cases of toilet paper, paper towels, and tissues. Items were safely distributed to community members in the Maurertown, Toms Brook, and Mt Olive Area. Pictured are Club President Ed Grabenstein, Robert Edge, and Project Coordinator Jim Gillenwater.

There were 43 names originally submitted to Ruritan National for Charter Members. There are 51 signatures on the signed Charter that hangs in the Catawba Community Center.

Frankie Garman, Sr. and Charles Eakin were presented a certificate for their 50 years of service to the club. The Catawba Valley Ruritan Club also presented both with an Oldtimers Knife engraved on the blade, "Ruritan 1970-2020."

Projects from the early days and some that are carried on today by the club include repair and painting of roofs, mending fence, wood cutting (this was generally for Widows of the Valley), chicken BBQ, apple butter making, and cemetery cleaning.

2020 graduate of Glenvar High School Dakota Hensel was presented a $1,000 scholarship. Dakota plans to attend Roanoke College to study Sports Management. When asked the question, "what are your feelings of how the school year ended with all the COVID-19 issues and concerns?" He replied, "You just have to take each day as it comes and go with it."

Hamburg Sponsors Spring Forward Program

In the fall of 2008, several individuals brainstormed ways to create an after-school tutoring/enrichment program for students. The Hamburg Ruritan Club (HRC) agreed to sponsor such a program. Spring Forward began in March 2009 and has continued through March 2020, meeting twice weekly, from 4-6pm. While located in a rural setting, technology allows connection with highly skilled individuals, opening up a wide world to discover.

In addition to academics, students enjoy snacks served by a caring hospitality staff. Families are invited to simple suppers and special programs. The school division provides bus transportation; parents pick up their children at the end of the day. Together, the Hamburg Ruritan Club, Edinburg

Lutheran Parish, and Shenandoah County Public Schools have formed this unique partnership as a civic organization, church parish, and school division to serve families, many of whom would not be able to afford such services. An all-volunteer staff of 35 --many who are members of HRC--consists of retired educators, pastors, IT specialists, business professionals, and community leaders whose experiences are both rich and varied. Former students often return to tutor. A therapy dog listens to students read aloud. Highly skilled guest speakers volunteer their time to enrich learning in such areas of entomology, architecture, and oceanography. An amazing addition to the program is contact with a well-known whale expert who inspired students to build a 45' inflatable Humpback whale model, making Spring Forward a "whale of an after-school program."

With start-up funds of $200 from HRC, SF continues to be financially supported by HRC, Zion Lutheran Church, and with grants from local foundations and generous contributors, both individuals and businesses. Since its launch, 300 scholars have attended SF. The staff has contributed over 31,000 hours and returned to the community over $1M in goods and services, propelling HRC to achieve Blue Ribbon status. Honors include the Lutheran Family Services of Virginia Heart & Hand Gold Award, SCPS Volunteers of the Year, and Best After-School Program in Shenandoah County, sponsored by The Northern Virginia Daily newspaper. For the past 12 years, the local school division provided bus transportation to Spring Forward. With the advent of COVID-19, the program abruptly closed, along with public schools. While the path forward is not known, the passion for moving onward to serve is clearly present. When pandemic concerns abate and students may be transported to Spring Forward, the program will resume.

The director of Spring Forward is a retired educator and member of HRC and ZLC. With her background as a master teacher, reading specialist, and middle school administrator, Jane Perry enthusiastically continues her journey of teaching.

"This is what Ruritan is all about." --Barry J. Sweitzer, Charter Member, HRC

"Not only does Spring Forward provide important academic support to our students, it also provides emotional support that expands students' horizons." --Dr. Mark Johnston, Superintendent of Schools, Shenandoah County

"The Spring Forward Program proves that we, as Ruritans, can never go wrong when we invest our time, talents and love into the youth in our communities." --Past National Director Susan Greisz

"Spring Forward has the full support of Hamburg Ruritan Club." --President E. Twyman Greene

"This program is such a benefit to kids. I do not know what I would have done without Spring Forward." --Danielle Bush, Parent

"I wish Spring Forward would have been available when my children were younger. My grandchildren benefit from the 1:1 help and from the activities Mrs. Perry and volunteers provide for all of the kids." --Christine Zuniga, Grandmother of Seven Scholars

"I have seen my son grow socially and his grades have improved from his involvement in the program. --Sydney Fleck, Parent and Tutor

"Many of our participating scholars are not privileged to have parental support at home to prepare for tests, homework, or just to have a conversation. --Bill and Sue Funkhouser, Tutors, HRC members.

Snowville Club Provides Free Lunches During Covid-19

Article written by DANIELLE REID,
THE PATRIOT

While many people are wondering when – or whether – public school students will be returning to the classroom this fall, the Ruritan Club of Snowville is meeting the immediate needs of their students through a community effort and 80 to 100 bag lunches per week. We were glad we could help," comments Dishon.

The Ruritan Bag Lunch menus change daily, but consist of an entree such as spaghetti, hamburger, hot dog or chicken, juice or a drink, fruit and a side item.

As if Dishon, who is also the U.S. History and Service Learning teacher at Pulaski County High School and Flesher, who is the manager at Arby's in Dublin, didn't have enough to occupy their time, they along with several volunteers, do the shopping, coordinating, food preparation and stuffing bags for the feeding program.

Food distribution takes place at the Snowville Elementary School from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

"If anyone comes in and says they're hungry, we give a lunch to them. Usually the parent comes in, but some older kids who can drive occasionally pick up the lunches. We have made some deliveries if no one is available to pick up a lunch," continues Dishon.

Regarding her passion for helping others, Dishon says: "I grew up with two parents very involved in serving others. They were on the rescue squad, involved in church activities, and other volunteer organizations." Dishon, who began volunteering with the Ruritan Club at age 17, is a strong advocate for volunteerism and believes the Ruritan Club presents opportunities for students to discover ways to give back.

"Volunteerism is not as prevalent as it used to be and while our club is a great resource for the community, we are worried about volunteer clubs being able to continue due to dwindling membership. Many of our members are senior citizens. The times are different now. People are always on the go, our kids have so many scheduled activities; and time becomes extremely precious," she says reflectively.

Although Dishon appreciates everyone who is willing to help, younger volunteers are especially noteworthy. She recognizes exemplary students Gabby Duncan, sophomore at PCHS who has been volunteering through the Ruritan Club; and elementary student Hollace Oakes, who donated funds from her JamStand which she started as a nine-year-old.

the Backpack Buddy Program.

Amanda Dishon, Snowville Ruritan Club vice president, remarked, "When the schools shut down in Virginia because of COVID-19, we were concerned. So many families rely on the school lunch program to feed their kids. When we discovered the Snowville School was going to be providing lunches on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, we decided to supplement their program and provide free lunches on Tuesdays and Thursdays."

Amy Shrewsbury, Principal at Snowville Elementary School expressed her appreciation. "I want everyone to know just how much we appreciate the long-standing relationship with our Ruritan community. They diligently work together to help families in our community and are an amazing group of people and an excellent asset. They work closely to make sure the children in our community get what they need, such as this feeding program. They give awards to the students, like the Kindness Award in which teachers nominate students for outstanding acts of kindness."

After the decision to help was made, the next step was figuring out how to pay for and initiate the feeding program. According to Dishon, she and Sharon Flesher, Snowville Ruritan Club president, reached out to the Ruritan Club.

"The Ruritans made an initial donation and agreed to contribute $600 toward the feeding program; and plan to revisit the donation at a later date. So many people in the Snowville community have offered to help and are pitching in. It's a community effort. We've received donations of food and money, too." She named Cecil's Chapel United Methodist Church volunteers Judy Barr and Salina Smiley and the Snowville Masonic Lodge #159 among the many outstanding contributors.

Dishon says they reached out to the Backpack Buddy Program at Snowville Elementary School.

"The Backpack Buddy Program already had a distribution system set up for food boxes. In addition to the boxes, we started doing the bag lunches. The Ruritan Club is providing between

Fall Cover Contest Winner Hollace Oakes

Below is a letter that Hollace Oakes (age 9) wrote when she donated some of her JamStand money to the Snowville Ruritan Feeding Project.

Hi, my name is Hollace Oakes. I'm 9 years old and I'm in 4th grade at Snowville Elementary School in Mrs. Arnold's class.

My mom noticed on the Snowville Ruritan Facebook page that they were feeding children on Tuesdays and Thursdays. They were requesting donations. Mom sent some grocery items to be used and she asked me if there was anything I could do to help. I immediately said that I could give some of my JamStand money to help.

My 1st grade teacher, Mrs. Payne, taught me about Economics and I decided that I would start a JamStand to make some money. That August, I had my first JamStand. I sold apple butter and strawberry jam that I helped to make. I split my earnings up into envelopes. Some for saving, for giving, for crafts, for books and more. I've continued this each summer and now I sell blueberry and kiwi jams, too.

So, I used some of my giving money to donate to the Snowville Ruritans Feeding project. I think it is important for kids to have yummy foods to eat all the time, everyday. I know the Ruritans will help any kids in our community who are hungry. And, that's a good thing!

Love,
Hollace
